The Four Rivers Sail & Power Squadron is one of more than 450 squadrons of the United States Power Squadrons (USPS). Our principal aims are threefold:

- To promote public boating safety.
- To increase boating knowledge among our members through special courses, text books, examinations and national certification.
- And to enjoy boating activities with family and friends.

Our newsletter, the Charlie Noble (an old sailor's name for the chimney poking through the deck from the galley below, where all hands could warm themselves off-watch and tell stories), circulates once a month to all members. USPS has awarded the Charlie Noble with the coveted National Publication Award many times since 1994. roster of members (with home addresses, phone numbers and boat names) is updated annually and distributed to all members. A current copy of the bylaws is also available on request. Each month, from the national headquarters, squadron members receive the informative magazine, The Ensign.
